The Next Web Bubble? Open-Source Jobs in 2006

What a difference a year makes! The market for technology talent is booming again! Join this session to openly discuss your experiences in today's changing job market and help make predictions for the future. Todd Cranston-Cuebas, Ticketmaster's senior technical recruiter, will host this discussion on tips, techniques, and suggestions for getting your ideal job. Topics will include the real value of job boards, the new world of social networking, how to target your ideal company, how to connect with the decision-maker in your target company, and of most importance, how to think like a corporate recruiter.
