BOF info from ApacheCon EU 2005:

BOFs have been scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday evenings, at 8:30pm and 9:30pm. You should see the main conference schedule for what is when. If you would like to have a BOF, and it has not been scheduled, there will be a whiteboard available for signups. If you can't find it, hunt one of us down, and we'll try to help you.

BOF Schedule

Please add BOFs that you'd like to have. You may link to an additional page for further information about the BOF, as well as for people to sign up to indicate interest in the BOF. Please place your BOF in your desired slot in the schedule below.

Please note that the actual schedule is on the board by the registration desk. It might be different from the schedule here on the Wiki. Please help keeping the Wiki up-to-date in case of changes.

What is a BOF?

Birds Of a Feather, or BOFs, are where people of like interests flock together – small, focused talks or group sessions for 60 minutes with just the people you need to meet. Any attendee can propose a BOF. They are currently scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday evening from 8pm to 10pm.
