Building the Open Source Economy

There was a short discussion on members@ in May 2005 about how we could make better use of the jobs.at.apache.org list and how to "advertize" the possibility that some Apache committers are available for being funded to do stuff on certain projects. Several Apache members showed interest in having such a discussion.

The Street Performer protocol (<http://www.schneier.com/paper-street-performer.html>) might also be interesting to discuss in this context – bdelacretaz
