

Argyn

I'm Argyn. I live in Vienna, VA, USA with my family.

You can say that I'm a fan of Cocoon. I won't tell you where I work now, because it doesn't matter: I'm a consultant. I could be in some other place in no time.

I promote open-source software wherever I can. Currently, I'm advocating its use in e-government projects, check this out.

My current expertise is all sorts of server-side stuff:

- middleware and servers: BEA WebLogic (mentor), IBM WebSphere (certified enterprise developer), Oracle 9 iAS, Sun iPlanet, jBoss, Netscape Directory Server, Oracle, MS SQL Server etc.
- server-side Java (J2EE, EJB, JMS, Servlets, JSP, LDAP, JDBC etc.), XML/XSLT, Cocoon, Struts
- Web, document processing, reporting

During a decade in software development, I've done some other things like client-server, "number-crunching" and lab instruments management.

If you want me to do something for you, write me an e-mail jawabean@yahoo.com. I have that dream to work in Europe for few weeks as a consultant. I've been there many times, and like it so much! So, if you have anything to offer, don't hesitate to write me, please.

Everyone has a blog these days, I have a Blog of my own too.
