

CMS

A CMS is usually a "Content Management System", but apart from that the definition varies. One part of a CMS is often the presentation system - and that could perhaps be Cocoon. There are a number of CMS built using Cocoon, including Lenya (fka Wyona).

Question: Which are the other CMS?

- Portals Pointers @ TECFA
- Open Directory \(CMS\)

Question: I suppose there are some contradictory technologies (CMS using Struts or CMS using Cocoon)??

Warning! Saved changes on this page DO actually change content on cocoonddev.org. Please take care what you write!