

LeighDodds

My advogato page has some information about me

My home page has other links, including a picture of my curmudgeonly face! 😊

Here's my FOAF description

My weblog, eclectic which monitors the XML-DEV mailing list

Other random facts:

- I'm an editor over at XMLHack
- I used to write the XML-Deviant column on XML.com
- I'm a co-editor of the RSS 1.0 specification
- I'm 30, married, and have a son Ethan who is 10 months old
- I live in Bath in the UK
- I work for Ingenta where I lead the Research and Technology Group. I'm using Cocoon as an application prototyping environment.

Cocoon Ideas/Scratchpad

- Convert the WikiML code into a Generator
- Convert Simon St. Laurent's Regular Fragmentations code into a Transformer
- Other useful Transformers could be built around Streaming Transformations and Architectural Forms: New Generation
- I've done a comparison between XML Pipeline and Cocoon as a compare/contrast. There are some interesting overlaps.