XmlInfoset

XML Information Set

"This specification provides a set of definitions for use in other specifications that need to refer to the information in an XML document."

In other words it provides "API" to talk about XML without getting into details of XML grammar (such as XML 1.0 specification).