

Python

Become a contributor

You need to be added as a contributor to edit the wiki. But don't worry! Just email any Mailing List or grab us on IRC and let us know your user name.

Clients

<https://github.com/IBM/cloudant-python-sdk> - IBM Cloudant's Apache 2 licensed official client library that is also compatible with Apache CouchDB.

couchdb-python

<https://github.com/djc/couchdb-python> (no longer being maintained as of Feb 2018)

Older clients:

couchdbkit: <http://couchdbkit.org/> and <https://github.com/benoitc/couchdbkit> (no updates since 2015)

py-couchdb: Python 3-ready client using requests for http (much faster than the standard library)

<https://github.com/niwibe/py-couchdb> (last updated Aug 2014, as of Oct 2014)

<https://py-couchdb.readthedocs.org/en/latest/> couchquery: <https://github.com/nicolaisi/couchquery/>

python-cloudant: <https://github.com/cloudant/python-cloudant>

Asynchronous Clients

These are clients with asynchronous support, i.e. you don't have to block on that "put" command.

aiocouchdb: uses asyncio.

aiocouchdb source code on github

aiocouchdb documentation on readthedocs

aiocouchdb on the Python package index

Tornado

<https://github.com/nephics/tornado-couchdb>

Trombi

<https://github.com/inoin/trombi> - last updated 2012 (as of Mar 2014)

Corduroy

<http://samizdat.cc/corduroy/> - last updated 2012 (as of Mar 2014)

CouchDB with Django

A tutorial on using Django (a Python framework) with CouchDb can be found at <http://lethain.com/entry/2008/aug/18/an-introduction-to-using-couchdb-with-django/> <http://www.eflorenzano.com/blog/post/using-couchdb-django/>

Alternatively you can view just the source for that example at

<http://github.com/lethain/comfy-django-example/tree/master>

List on pypi

<https://pypi.python.org/pypi/?%3Aaction=search&term=couchdb&submit=search>