Apache jclouds Home

Apache jclouds® is an open source multi-cloud toolkit for the Java platform that gives you the freedom to create applications that are portable across clouds while giving you full control to use cloud-specific features.

If you would like to use jclouds in an application you're developing, the best place to start is jclouds.apache.org.

This wiki is for the developers who work on jclouds itself and you're welcome to join us! Use the navigation on the left to discover more.
