

BoardReport-May2012

Apache Turbine Project Board Report, May 2012

Apache Turbine is a servlet based framework that allows experienced Java developers to quickly build web applications. Turbine allows you to use personalize the web sites and to use user logins to restrict access to parts of your application.

Turbine is a matured and well established framework that is used as the base of many other projects.

Status

The Turbine project has as usual seen low levels of activity in the last quarter.

The Turbine project has no board-level issues at this time.

Project Branding Board Report Checklist

The last issue left is

- TODO: Logos and Graphics : include TM

Community changes

No new committers were voted in since the last board report.

No new PMC members were voted in since the last board report.

Turbine core project

No activity in this quarter.

No beta or final releases were made since the last board report.

Some questions on the user list appeared and have been answered.

Fulcrum component project

No activity in this quarter.

No beta or final releases were made since the last board report.

META project

No activity in this quarter.

No beta or final releases were made since the last board report.