

OpenDevelopment

This is an informal meeting to discuss the concept of Open Development as an evolution from the currently somewhat watered down term Open Source. You might want to see <http://feather.planetapache.org/?p=46> and <http://feather.planetapache.org/?p=48> for some background. As the ASF is one of the prominent heralds of what can be defined as Open Development, it might make sense to try and understand if and how to push this concept further.