

ShishirSaxena

Shishir Saxena has more than five years experience in J2EE related technologies. His expertise includes web tier architecture and open source content management systems. He has been studying and working on Apache Lenya for past two months out of interest and is impressed by its flexibility. He is presently involved with development of Apache Lenya related initiatives.