General Comments

There are no issues that require Board attention.

XML Graphics Commons

Developer activity has been confined to a few fixes.

Batik

Developer activity has been low. Questions on the user list are mostly getting answers. Gump build failures have been resolved by adding XGC as a dependency for Batik (and thereby reducing code redundancy between the two subprojects).

Fop

Developer activity has been rather high. Nevertheless, the active committers are not able to handle all incoming patches. Peter Hancock has joined as a committer. A number of committers have been listed as inactive, both for Fop and XML Graphics Commons.

In March there has been a heated debate between the PMC and a contributor about committership. Regrettably, no agreement could be reached, and a resolution has been deferred to a later date.
